DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments, see paper No. 10, filed 02/21/2003, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1, 3-7 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of Terrasson (U.S. Patent No. 6,061,576) and Isomursu et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,400,958).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 6-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Terrasson (U.S. Patent No. 6,061,576).

Regarding claims 1, 6-7, Terrasson teaches a portable communication apparatus having a display, a user-controlled input device, a memory, a controller and a hierarchical menu system stored in the memory, the menu system comprising a plurality of menus, including top-level menus and sub-level menus, and a plurality of menu items under respective menus, the controller being arranged to present individual menus with menu items on the display, receive selection commands from a user through the user-controlled input device, and in response, perform functions related to the presented menus and menu items, the memory of the apparatus further including a dynamic menu, the contents of which may be modified by the user, wherein the dynamic menu is either a top-level menu or a sub-level menu in the hierarchical menu system and includes a menu item associated with a function for modifying a number of available dynamic menu items for controlling the functionality of the apparatus (col. 1, lines 44-60; col. 7, lines 45-58).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Terrasson (U.S. Patent No. 6,061,576) in view of Isomursu et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,400,958).

Regarding claims 3-5, Terrasson does not mention about adding/deleting a selected menu item to/from the dynamic menu. However, the preceding limitation is taught in Isomursu (col. 11, line 65 – col. 12, line 10). It would have been an obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to apply the teaching of Isomursu et al. to the teaching of Terrasson to provide convenience for users.
